Looks like it has a secret ability too. Ms. Sara has some serious talent.

That's right. As I thought, you've got a good eye, Ms. Marida!

Such finesse, to make an arm like this, you sure are talented Ms. Sara.
It was a lot of hard work, really complicated too.
Just as I expected, you've got a real talent for making machinery.

FINESSE..?
..COMPLICATED WORK..?

Let me have a look at that, Mr. Crazy Dog.

Don't...

CRAZY DOG!
That's so rude... Stop it. Ms. Marida gave us those parts.

SHUT UP!

Amazing arm?
CUT THE CRAP.

You're not fooling anyone! It's your damn fault I'm stuck like this.

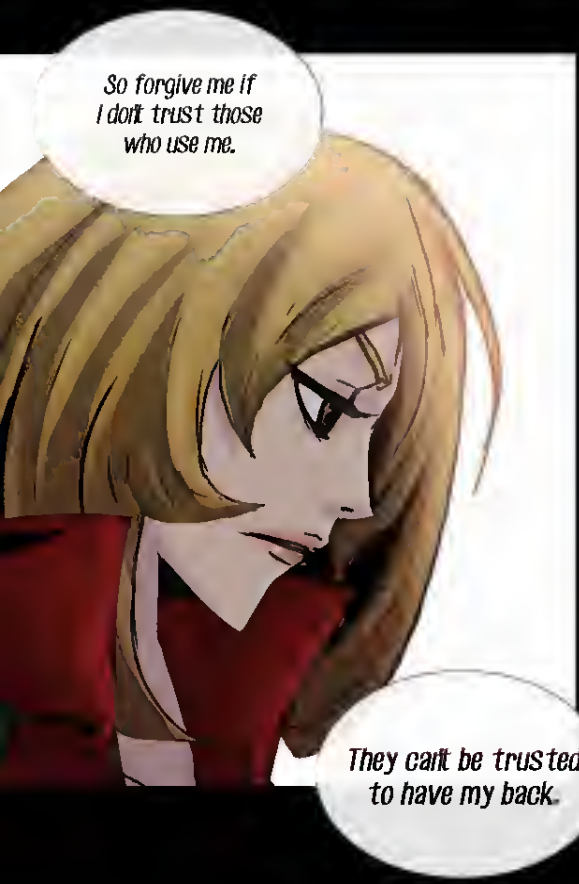
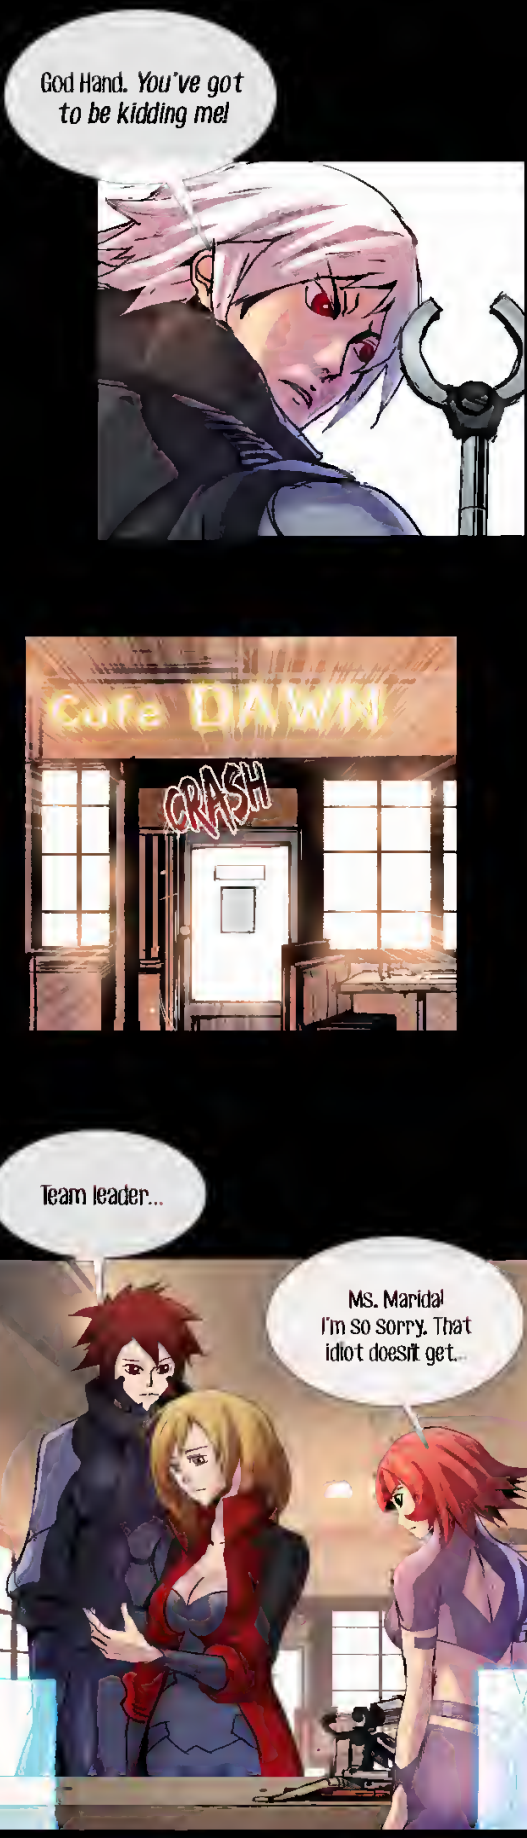
You knew damn well the Red Crystal was there and you used it as bait to get me to fight that doll...

YOU USED ME.



So forgive me if I don't trust those who use me.
They can't be trusted to have my back.

Crazy Dog! Where are you going?!
TO FIND MYSELF A DECENT ARM!



God Hand. You've got to be kidding me!

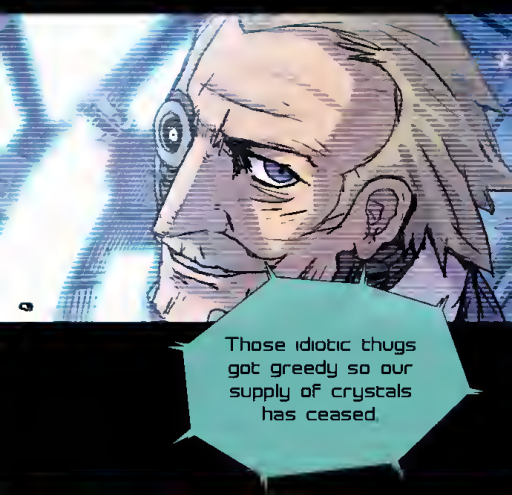
Doctor: How is our other operation coming along?
The hunter is completed and deployed.



Those idiotic thugs got greedy so our supply of crystals has ceased.

So the professor's regeneration will take some time

Director, I'm concerned our operations may be moving too quickly.

The 'Ghost Eye' and the upcoming test... they are far too dangerous.

I'm concerned those at the top will get take notice.

You give them too little credit. You think they are not aware?

From the very moment I got my hands on that memory disk, I have assumed they know about everything.

Then... Should we not be even more cautious?

They... frighten me.

Since they've seen the power of the 'Ghost Eye' in our possession, for the time being, we have nothing to fear from them.
They may be greedy but they are just as cautious. They wouldn't risk putting themselves in danger.
That cautiousness buys us some time.

AS long as we can restore the other half of that memory disk...
We will never have to fear them ever again.

But to do that we must regenerate the professor as soon as possible.

This crystal is not enough. We have to get our hands on it, no matter how dangerous...

The Hunters we've sent.
Will they obey our commands?
Even though we are working together out of necessity...

Using a hunter is still quite dangerous.

No need to worry.

It should be arriving any moment now.

According to Gryphon officials, the explosion was caused by gas a leak from an old pipe located within the warehouse.
